Children's Hospital of Philadelphia
PolicyLab

Suburban Docs and Parents are OK Talking About Food Insecurity

PolicyLab researcher Dr. Deepak Palakshappa discusses his new research which found that screening for food insecurity in suburban primary care practices was feasible and acceptable to both caregivers and physicians.

Source:

Reuters

Visit Link