Vote for Dr. Akers for the Social Innovations Award!

Date:

Tuesday, October 24, 2017

PolicyLab researcher Aletha Akers, MD, MPH, is a nominee for Philadelphia's Social Innovations Award in the category of public policy and government. This award recognizes innovative leaders that have demonstrated a commitment to improving public life through various sectors and domains. Dr. Akers was nominated for her leadership in a policy initiative that expanded access to long-acting reversible contraceptives (LARCs) for underserved adolescents in Pennsylvania. You can read more about Dr. Akers' project here, and vote for her here until October 27.
