

Vote for Dr. Akers for the Social Innovations Award!

Date:

Tuesday, October 24, 2017

PolicyLab researcher Aletha Akers, MD, MPH, is a nominee for Philadelphia's Social Innovations Award in the category of public policy and government. This award recognizes innovative leaders that have demonstrated a commitment to improving public life through various sectors and domains. Dr. Akers was nominated for her leadership in a policy initiative that expanded access to long-acting reversible contraceptives (LARCs) for underserved adolescents in Pennsylvania. You can read more about Dr. Akers' project here, and vote for her here until October 27.

Aletha Y. Akers MD, MPH, FACOG Faculty Scholar Related Projects

Preventing Adolescent Pregnancy in Pennsylvania through Long-Acting Reversible Contraception