

PolicyLab Releases Behavioral Health Webinar Series

Date:

Tuesday, April 30, 2019

In observance of Mental Health Month, PolicyLab is kicking off a webinar series to tackle a variety of behavioral health topics that our researchers are continuously exploring. Each Thursday between May 2 and May 23, we will release a short, 15-minute, engaging webinar through which a number of our experts will highlight how they are working to address some of the key issues facing children and adolescents today and discuss what we can do to ensure children are getting the care they need when they need it. You can find our Behavioral Health Webinar Series page here for descriptions of each webinar and a full list of speakers. Be sure to visit this page throughout the month of May to watch the latest webinars in the series!
