Trying to Lose Weight? Drexel Researchers Review the Best Way Cities Can Help

Date:

Wednesday, Mar 25, 2015

A new review of the latest research from PolicyLab's Stephanie Mayne, also a Drexel University PhD candidate, suggests food bans and transportation upgrades are the most successful. Stephanie reviewed 37 studies of so-called "natural experiments" to figure out the most effective public health strategies.

Source:

Newsworks
Visit Link