Close Quarters: California’s Overcrowded Homes Fuel Spread of Coronavirus Among Workers

PolicyLab researcher Gregory Tasian, MD, MSCE, MSc, was quoted in an article discussing his team’s model, which shows strict social distancing policies and low population density are important in slowing the spread of COVID-19.

Source:

ABC10

Visit Link