Children's Hospital of Philadelphia
PolicyLab

Polina Krass
MD, MSHP

Faculty Member

Polina Krass (she/her) is a faculty member at PolicyLab at Children's Hospital of Philadelphia (CHOP) and an attending physician in the Division of Emergency Medicine at CHOP. She is also a Center for Violence Prevention Research Scholar and an associate fellow at the Leonard Davis Institute of Health Economics at the University of Pennsylvania.

She is a co-founder of the Adolescent Protection Collaborative, a novel clinic for youth victims of trafficking at CHOP.

Dr. Krass is interested in pediatric suicide prevention in acute care settings and the impact of health policy on adolescent health outcomes. Her recent research has focused on access to adolescent confidential care, pediatric suicide prevention, and pediatric emergency mental health.

Dr. Krass completed her medical degree at the New York University School of Medicine and her MS in Health Policy at the University of Pennsylvania. She completed her pediatrics residency training at CHOP and was a National Clinician Scholar at the University of Pennsylvania.

Polina Krass
MD, MSHP
Email: krassp@chop.edu