PolicyLab Goes Back to School

Date:

Tuesday, September 05, 2023

PolicyLab recently launched our annual “Back to School” series in which our exerts and guest authors emphasize the need to support the health and well-being of youth as they return to school this year and highlight the importance of continuing education for our own team members.

Check out our new resources below:

- Higher Education Student Vaccination Policies: How Administrators Can Encourage Vaccine Uptake
- The ABCs of School Readiness: Supporting Caregivers in Fostering Early Language Development
- Language Inclusivity: Including All Voices for Equitable Health Research
- BMI Screenings in Schools – A Failing Report Card?

Additionally, we published a new video in which PolicyLab students and interns share what they learned during their time with us at the center. Watch the video below.

Join the conversation using our hashtag #PolicyLabGoesBacktoSchool on Twitter and LinkedIn.
