Clinical Research Coordinator

Priyani Sharma (she/her/hers) is a clinical research coordinator at PolicyLab and Clinical Futures at Children's Hospital of Philadelphia (CHOP). She works with Drs. Brian Jenssen and Alexander Fiks on multiple primary-care based projects aiming to improve pediatric care and health outcomes. She also collaborates with the Possibilities Project, which uses innovative strategies to enhance health outcomes, improve patient experience, and address the future health needs of children and families.

She has previously worked as a program manager for a Medicare-based program, where she gained experience in health care project management, data analysis, operations and process improvement. Her research involvement has included work in areas such as primary care, diabetes management, access to care, telehealth and nutrition education.

Ms. Sharma received her Master of Public Health in Epidemiology from Drexel University. Prior to her master's program, she completed her bachelor's degree in public health focusing on global health, also at Drexel University.
