Children's Hospital of Philadelphia
PolicyLab

More Parents Refusing Vitamin K Shots for Newborns, Study Finds

NBC News interviewed PolicyLab Affiliate Trainee, Dr. Kristan Scott, on his research and clinical experience demonstrating a rise in parental refusal of vitamin K shots for infants, which are critical for preventing severe bleeding.

Source:

NBC News

Visit Link