Children's Hospital of Philadelphia
PolicyLab

Tim Nelin
MD, MSHP

Faculty Member

Timothy Nelin is a neonatologist at the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia (CHOP) and Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania. He is interested in the impact of place on health and understanding how the neighborhood environment impacts the health of preterm infants. Additionally, Dr. Nelin is passionate about investigating how social and policy interventions and modifications to the physical environment can health outcomes.

Dr. Nelin received an MD from the Ohio State University College of Medicine. He completed his clinical internship, pediatric residency and chief residency, and neonatology fellowship at CHOP and the University of Pennsylvania. He completed his MSHP during neonatology fellowship at Penn.

Tim Nelin
MD, MSHP
Email: nelint@chop.edu