

New Project Page — Positively Connected for Health (PC4H): Use of eHealth/mHealth tools to Improve Health of HIV+ Youth

Date:

Friday, April 07, 2017

Positively Connected for Health (PC4H) is a Philadelphia-based innovative project that aims to improve health outcomes for youth living with HIV who do not have a suppressed viral load that uses three distinct eHealth/mHealth interventions. Click here to read the project page and learn more.

Nadia Dowshen
MD, MSHP
Faculty Member
Related Projects

Understanding the Policy, Legal and Practice Barriers to Treating the Partners of Adolescents with Sexually Transmitted Infections

IKnowUShould2: A Campaign to Raise Awareness about Sexually Transmitted Infections among Youth in Philadelphia